Admiral John Jellicoe, 1st Earl Jellicoe
(1859 – 1935)
Admiral of the Fleet John Jellicoe, 1st Earl Jellicoe commanded the Grand Fleet at the Battle of Jutland in May 1916, the only major naval conflict of the First World War. Jellicoe later served as First Sea Lord during which time he administered the expansion of the Admiralty Staff and began the introduction of convoys. He later served as Governor-General of New Zealand in the early 1920s.

Field Marshal John French, 1st Earl of Ypres
(1852 – 1925)
Field Marshal John French, 1st Earl of Ypres was the Anglo-Irish Commander-in-Chief of the British Expeditionary Force at the start of World War I.

Paul Von Hindenburg
(1847 - 1934)
Paul Von Hindenburg (1847-1934) commanded the German military during the second half of World War I in his capacity as Chief of the German General Staff. After the war he was President of the German Reich from 1925 until his death. His name will be well known by aero philatelists as the famous zeppelin Hindenburg was named after him.
